

VideoChess

Kristian Guttesen

Henrik Danielsen

Dear Friend.

Just a quick note to tell you about our new webpage – www.videochess.net – a place on the Internet where everyone can get free chess lessons. This page contains everything; from elementary lessons, for beginners, to advanced lectures of the very best quality.

So, if you are a chess enthusiast, whether you are a beginner, intermediate or an advanced player, you will always find something of interest. The page is updated daily, and furthermore, we are already experimenting with live chess lessons.

We are always adding new languages to our catalog and we also have a fun area containing cartoons and other entertaining videos.

The idea for this page was conceived in the year 2005 when we were teaching chess to children in Namibia, Africa. Already we knew that chess can help children, and all individuals for that matter, to build their character, their self-esteem and develop their initiative and decision-making skills. We then saw how visual learning can be utilized, and so we started to film our own teachings. These lessons will gradually be brought onto VideoChess.Net

It is our vision that all children, regardless of ethnic origin and personal background, will be given an opportunity to learn how to maximize their potentials to the fullest. A lot of skills can be picked up through learning the game of chess. Therefore, everyone can gain from looking at our ever-expanding material. Using VideoChess.Net is free of charge.

We ask, as a favour, that you help us spread the word: By putting a link on your website, by telling your friends about it, by mentioning our webpage on your blog.

Yours Sincerely,

Henrik Danielsen

Kristian Guttesen